

EULA (End User License Agreement)

Your consent statement to the following agreement

It is important to thoroughly read and accept the terms and conditions of the Outlook PST repair software before distributing, or installing it. This becomes optional if you already have the separate agreement signed with Recovee Software.

If you are not satisfied or agree with the terms and conditions defined by this license agreement introduced by Recovee's software, we recommend you to avoid using, distributing, or installing any copy of the product related with this particular license.

The terms and conditions as per the license describe the permitted use and the users of each of the licensed copy of this particular OST Recovery software. When you have a single copy of the license of this OST to PST Converter software, your rights are limited to a single use of the license. When you have multiple user copies of this license, then you or your organization whoever is the client of the Recovee software, have the right to use the number of copies as mentioned in the agreement of the license by Recovee software while the grant of this license.

The terms and conditions which are mentioned on the license allow you to use the license copy for the respective Outlook PST repair. If you own one license's copy of Outlook PST repair, this limits your rights to a single use of the license for the single product. If you are having the multiple copies of the license, then the user whether it's individual or the organization, allowed to use the number of copied stated in the license agreement granted Recovee software.

The scope of the license

The license provided in the agreement are not meant to use simultaneously. If the license includes the rights to one person, only the authorized owner has the right to use the agreement. This software can be used by multiple users for Outlook PST repair but not in a concurrent manner. Users can use one at a time on one device.

The rights for Outlook PST repairs expressed on not expressly mentioned in the license agreement are reserved solely by Recovee software. The agreement states that you/user is not allowed to rent, change, amend, lease, translate, reverse engineer, decompile, disassemble or doing any derivative/secondary is not allowed. Also, you have no right to allow any other person to access the PST repair tool to the others in the connection with any of the service providers to any application, a service bureau or businesses of any similar nature.

Liability limitations and warranty disclaimers

The other files, software, data or anything accompanied by the software is not covered by any warranty either specifically or impliedly. By accepting the agreement you confirm that you allow converting data in high quality, it is advisable to avoid any risk by processing not so important data first, before making any reliance/dependence on the software. It is your risk to use the copies of the software granted by this license. The warranty disclaimer holds the maximum importance in the license agreement and terms and conditions.

Also, Recovee software gives no authorization to your family, friends, relatives or any person related to you, to use this Outlook PST repair software on their workstations which are prone to software failure or damaged systems as it can cause physical or life loss. If you make any unauthorized use, it completely your risk and responsibility as Recovee software doesn't take any responsibility of any such claims or losses.

General

This license agreement is the complete agreement between both the parties. This agreement is potent to merge or suspend the previously made agreements, arrangements, understandings, purchase order on the issue. The license is designed in accordance with the laws of State of New Delhi and is subjected to such laws. By accepting this agreement, you are agreeing the final decision of any conflict between both parties has to take by the court. This agreement doesn't state any liability of the third parties, for any promise, deal, representation or obligation of any nature. Any violation of license or terms and condition shall not be ignored or waived by Recovee Software and Recovee software shall hold no interest or responsibility in such cases of violation by users, of the software.

Copyright (C) Recovee Software. All Rights Reserved.